

Location Selection

When accessed via a link on www.unitypoint.org, a location selection page will first be presented. A location can be selected simply by clicking on one of the available location names that are listed.

The location selection page can also be accessed from anywhere within the lab test guide web site by clicking the page title in the navigation bar which is outlined in red below. Clicking the UnityPoint Health logo in the upper left-hand corner at any time will return you to the www.unitypoint.org website.
